Welcome to the Course

This curriculum has been developed based upon 15 years' experience, three training courses, and multiple webinars held by colleagues in the field of Frequency Medicine. Human medicine is continually evolving and improving. This curriculum was last updated 17 May 2025.

This course is designed to be flexible and adapt to the individual students' curiosities and specialised interests.

This course consists of just over 50 hours, and is divided into three parts:

(i) 10x hour-long videos guiding you through getting started, basic navigation and getting comfortable with the software and specific language used. This is intended as self-study, to learn the basics at your own pace and ask your trainer as you go along and develop questions.

(ii) 17x lesson modules, each 90 minutes in duration, covering specific windows and areas of the software in more depth. How to address common health conditions will be discussed. During this portion of the course, you will develop an instinct and understanding of the holistic body electric / electromagnetic. You will become more confident in how to search for answers and how to "connect the dots" or align information about the body to better "paint a picture" of the patient or client's health concerns.

(iii) 10x case studies working with real patients or clients, either in subspace or in harness.

If you are not looking to practise professionally, but just use the device at home for yourself and family members, or if you already have a successful and thriving healthcare practice, these can be swapped out for practical learning sessions. Just be aware that there are people who practice professionally and need to earn income in order to continue serving patients. Undercutting those professionals in price would not be helpful to a colleague, and so reaching out to connect and reach a mutually beneficial agreement is encouraged.*

Course Duration

Part One is designed to be studied at your own pace, usually over the span of two weeks.

Some students learn computer technology quickly, and others might need more time. Please ask your trainer for help with adjusting text size on the screen, or other technological issues that could make your many hours in front of the computer screen more comfortable.

The ten hours of videos and the Quick Start Guide and glancing through the User Manual in Part One usually require a fortnight of daily practice and study. It's important to repeat what you've just learned, to better keep it in your memory.

Part Two's lesson modules are each 1.5 hours in duration, 17 in total, held once weekly. It's recommended to spend an additional 2-3 hours repeating what you've learned before moving on to the next module the following week.

With the students' permission, each lesson module of the live training will be recorded, uploaded to Google Drive, and shared with the student for download and replay offline.

There is the possibility to receive a discount on tuition (educational fees) if the lesson is made available for sale in the Frequency Medicine Academy's Patreon channel. Please read below for more information.

Part Three consists of ten case studies, each 1.5 hours in duration. The case studies can be held once weekly or twice weekly depending on schedule arrangements.

The focus of the case studies and the patients / clients are selected by the student. Prior consent is required by the patient / client. All case studies are supervised and held live with the trainer.

Course Details

Attendance & Participation

Maximally three weeks are allowed to lapse between any two sessions in this course, specifically the case studies performed in Part III.

Although it is important to be flexible in accommodating different students' schedules, the trainer's own treatments and practice, as well as any time zone differences that need to be accounted for, it is equally important as it is valuable for retaining the information learned to uphold a forward-moving momentum in the students' coursework.

Prior General Education

This course heavily stresses a deeper understanding of the body holistic. It is highly recommended to already have existing knowledge of anatomy and physiology and pathology.

Deeper holistic understanding of the body such as in homeopathy or Traditional Chinese Medicine is highly recommended, as it is very congruent with the gentle form of healing that quantum biofeedback provides.

Students are encouraged to visit <https://udemy.com> for video courses covering general education in medical and healthcare fields. (Note: The Frequency Medicine Academy is not affiliated with Udemey.)

A Note on Setup & Tech

It's recommended to have a separate device for the coursework, guides, manuals and re-watching training videos. For example, this could be an external monitor connected to your laptop or a tablet or a second laptop.

It's recommended to save the recordings locally on a USB stick.

A Note on Software

Kasey Naví has been testing various softwares for the past 4 years: Omnis, Clasp (older and current versions), PULSAR and gENiO Sapiens. This course is designed primarily for use with Omnis or PULSAR softwares due to their faster speed.

However, all software should be compatible with SCIO devices and all software are based upon the original work of Professor William Nelson also known as Desiré Dubonet.

For software comparisons and editorial opinions of the efficacy of softwares, visit:

A Note on Tuition (Educational Fees)

No sales tax is applicable on live training or live webinars or live educational services held in the state of Minnesota. For more information, please reference:

<https://www.house.mn.gov/sessiondaily/SDView.aspx?StoryID=4095>

If purchasing a durable medical product intended for home use, there is no sales tax in the state of Minnesota. A simple one-page PDF form will need to be completed along with provision of your ID (such as driving license).

Full Tuition Amount

The full tuition amounts to $1,050 USD including payment processing fees and Patreon's platform fees. This breaks down to seven (7) monthly payments of $150 USD each.

Students are gifted benefits from other Patreon membership tiers, such as participation in the live roundtable discussions with other practitioners and the monthly case study-based webinars.

Scholarships

There are possibilities to grant a limited number of scholarships to students annually upon demonstration of financial hardship. Students are kindly asked to message the Academy on Patreon to enquire about further details.

Fee Waivers for Prior Purchases

Fee waivers can be issued for students who have purchased lessons from the Patreon shop. The premise is based on the expectation that these students have more in-depth knowledge of the lesson modules covered in the live training.

Up to three lesson modules can be reviewed in one 90-minute live training session.

The amount of the waiver is based on the number of lessons purchased from the Patreon shop, or webinars attended from third-party trainers.

Fee Waivers for Consent to Re-Sale

Fee waivers can be issued to students who consent to have the recordings of their lessons listed for sale on the Academy's Patreon shop. Consent must be given for the entirety of Part Two which consists of lessons 11 through 28, and the entirety of Part Three which consists of case studies. The student is reminded to notify the patient / client of this agreement.

If consent is given to re-sell the recordings of lessons, the intellectual property of the lessons is retained by the Frequency Medicine Academy. The fee waiver amount for consent to re-sale is $350 USD. The final total for tuition then amounts to $700.

Fast-Tracking

There is the possibility to fast-track completion of the Course if students demonstrate prior knowledge and experience with the quantum biofeedback device (SCIO, EPX, Quest9 or similar devices). This requires an hour-long examination including screenshare and remote control of the students' computer. The exam will test the student's knowledge of lesson modules 11 - 28. The fee for the fast-track exam is $150 USD. It is non-refundable.

Upon successful completion of the fast-track exam, the student has ten (10) case studies remaining to complete, each 90 minutes in duration. The amount of tuition remaining after reduction for being fast-tracked is $450 USD.

Certificate of Completion

A digital certificate will be issued upon completion of the entire training course. If fast-tracking, it will be issued upon completion of the entry examination and live case studies.

Please check with your insurance company and healthcare governance and advertisement authority whether this training course is recognised, as there is not yet an international body regulating the practice of frequency medicine or quantum biofeedback.
